Preserving the Past

The intention for this book was to place as much information in one place, for both the beginner and the advanced collector about New Zealand's household containers which are varied and many.

The containers provide a positive link with pioneering New Zealand's commercial enterprises; some of which flourished, while others faltered. Their bottles and containers are sometimes the only reminder that the company ever existed.

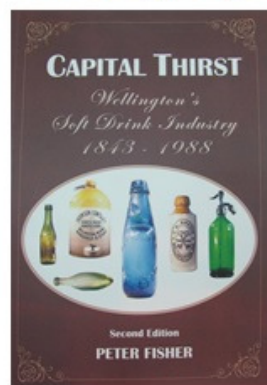

This catalogue includes over 200+ pages of New Zealand household bottles. It also includes interesting facts from over 100 of New Zealand's pioneering companies.
